Rabbi Says:

“(I) will strike all the first born in the land of Egypt and this day shall be to you a memorial” (Exodus 12:12-14)

Last month I received a very sad email about the sudden death of a colleague's son who was away at school. It bothered me so much that I couldn't attend the funeral. Maybe it was because Joshua was home that weekend, and, in fact, would be on the freeway at the time of the funeral and I didn't want to be thinking about him and the grief of my colleague and his wife at the same time. So I decided to write this column about Passover and about loss and about new life as a way to channel my grief and sympathy for my colleague. My dear friends, you all help me overcome my fears, sadnesses and pain in so many ways. One of which is this column. With your permission:

I have seen firsthand what the loss of a child can do to parents. My grandparents lost my mother when she was 51, they were already in their 70s but it still affected them for the rest of their lives, they were never again the robust people they had been. Even with me, their regret was for my mother never having seen Mina, Shariyar, or Joshua. There was always this loss haunting them. Every situation, every incident, every hurt feeling came to the surface. Had they acted correctly? Had we acted correctly? Had anyone acted correctly? Soon after that further tragedy struck my family again with the loss of my cousin, also to cancer, in her 20's. My uncle and aunt, and my cousin have never fully recovered from their loss. The sickness, the loss, the inability to save one's child can never be forgotten by any observer of one who knows the loss of a child.

President's message

For many years my family has been spending the first night of Passover with some friends. One of the staples of their seder is a game played after dinner. One person starts by saying "I'm leaving Egypt and I'm taking ..." completing the sentence with some item that starts with the letter A. The person next to them repeats the sentence, adding a second item starting with the letter B. Each person adds another item going down the alphabet, having first recited the growing list of items. It can get pretty silly, but it is a lot of fun. You have to listen carefully! One trick to being able to recite the list is to take a good look at each person at the table as you go down the list. It helps remind you what that person added, and sometime they offer a hint with a gesture.

Several months ago Temple Beth Emet started a Strategic Planning committee chaired by our Executive Vice-President Steve Abrams. The committee is charged with evaluating the temple's strengths, weaknesses, opportunities, and threats, setting goals and creating strategies for meeting those goals. One of the first goals we set was to increase the membership of the temple by 10% over the next year. Meeting this goal will take the involvement of all of us. If each of us becomes more aware of who might join our temple family, we would not only meet, but would exceed our goal. But how do you approach a friend, family member or acquaintance about visiting Temple Beth Emet? I suggest using the trick from the Passover game.

Rabbi William M. Kramer Z"L* Rabbibill.com

*May his memory be a blessing."

So, I can say I have been witness to this devastating loss personally. Now, I understand why we have the Fast of the First Born the morning of Passover. The Egyptians were struck by the Tenth plague quite suddenly and while not all were children of living parents, I am sure many were. In fact the text says, "From the house of the Pharaoh to the lowly prisoner in the dungeon, not one family was spared (Ex. 12)," the innocent with the guilty.

We spend that morning in prayer, in community and in empathy with the parents of those first-born who were cruel to us, but who were slain to free our people. We are commanded to forget our anger and bear with the loss and pain of our enemies. We are to spiritually travel back in time to that day long ago and relate the sprinkling of the blood on the doorposts with the rescue by G-D from that ultimate grief, the loss of a child. We are with family later that night in a re-enactment of the exodus of our people from Egypt but also from a nation of parents mourning the death of one's flesh and blood, one's life, one's "ticket to immortality". Then, if we are able, for a moment to feel an iota of what the parents of those first born must have felt we know the meaning of "In each generation one must feel as if he himself had gone out of Egypt." This is truly freeing!!!! When you can push aside your anger, no matter how deserving someone may be and still see the common bond between you and another, this is freedom of an eternal nature.

Innocent Egyptian blood and tears were paid for our freedom. For one day and two nights we recount innocent sacrifice. Let us make a covenant with our families to speak freely each and every Pesach about the sacrifice of our enemies for our freedom and make it as important to us as the martyrdom of our friends for our liberty.

Hag Sameach v'b'ahava,
Rabbi Mark

Temple Beth Emet's New Vision Statement:

Temple Beth Emet of Burbank strives to be the "Temple With A Heart," seeking to fulfill the spiritual, social and human needs of its members, congregation and its neighbors.

Temple Beth Emet seeks to promote the continuity of our Jewish faith and culture by strengthening our connection to G-d and each other and by encouraging acts of kindness and tzedakah.

Experience the sweetness of Shabbat.

On March 5th at 5:30 pm we will join hundreds of synagogues across the continent to take part in "Shabbat Across America"

We will begin with a joyous Shabbat dinner, hosted by Havurah Shachar, followed by TYPS service at 7pm.

Everyone is invited!!

Mitzvah of bikkur holim

We would like to know if you are ill, in the hospital (or being treated at home), not as an exercise in gossip, but as an opportunity for bikkur holim, to extend a helping hand or a word of encouragement.

Lisa De Luca had knee surgery

Lois Jones and Myra Sloves have been ill.

Remember the sick with cards, calls and visits.

Carole Eisinger wishes to thank the members and Board of Temple Beth Emet for all their cards, calls and visits during her recent illness. Carole is now recuperating at home.

Temple Beth Emet is investigating interest in an Adult Bar / Bat Mitzvah Course led by Rabbi Mark Sobel . Please contact the TBE office [(818) 843-4787] or email margaret.goldfarb@disney.com if interested.

Temple Beth Emet Community Needs

- ◆ Are you in need of employment?
- ◆ Are you in need of someone to employ?
- ◆ Do you need help with chores?
- ◆ Do you have housing needs, vehicle needs or miscellaneous needs?

This column was created to assist members in finding help with their needs. If you would like to place an announcement in this column, call the office and describe the need in 25 words or less, leave a suitable telephone number and your first name. We will post it in the next month's Chai Times for two issues.

When you take a good look at someone, sometimes you can see what qualities they are bringing with them and what burdens they might be carrying that we can lighten. You might approach someone you know by asking them what they are doing for Passover. Nothing? Maybe they would like to come to our Community Seder. Perhaps you can share your experience at one of our family Shabbat services or something you learned at an Adult Education class. Maybe all it takes is to listen a little more carefully to what someone else is saying about a need in their life to prompt an invitation from you to visit us. Who knows what qualities the new person or family you invite might bring to Temple Beth Emet! Perhaps altruism, blessings, comrade, dedication, enlightenment, fun, gratitude, helpfulness, interest, jocularly, knowledge, love, music, nurturing, openness, playfulness, quality, resolve, stoicism, talent, usefulness, vision, wisdom, xenodochialism (x words are always hard), youth, or zeal!

Happy Pesach to each of you!

-- IRAL. GOLDSTEIN, President

Chai Society Happenings

March newsletter submission from Stacie Barlow

Happy Spring from Chai Society! May the new season bring you & yours much happiness & fulfillment! The season brings many opportunities for all to join in helping and celebrating at Temple, and we hope you will sign up to help Chai Society and our Temple family with Spring plans! Let's spring into action and all work & celebrate together as we enjoy the blooms & fruits of our labor and the season.

Further, when's the last time you attended one of our Chai Society monthly planning meetings? Last month, last year, never? Well, it's never too late! We need everyone to lend their ideas, energy, hearts and hands. It's Chai Time that others join us for Chai Society meetings, on the first Sunday of every month – pretty please! Please join us for our next meeting on Sunday, March 7 at 10:00a.m.! We'll also be planning our upcoming Temple Beth Emet's Got Talent Show (see flier for more info), hosted by Chai Society, at the next monthly planning meeting, March 7, and at a committee meeting on a day & date T.B.A. soon. Would you like to help with the plans and/or join the Talent Show committee? Come on! It's gonna be fun! Call Lisa DeLuca at 818-434-2244. And speaking of talent, the talented Leona Zollman is organizing our Temple's Women's Seder again this year, which will be held on Tuesday, March 16 at 6:30 p.m. Please join us!

This Spring, we could use a helping hand with:

1. Weekly Oneg Shabbat set-up, serving & clean-up helpers needed; sign up on sign-up sheet on social hall bulletin board by the door or call Lucy at Temple office to volunteer! All Onegs in March and April available now! Please help! Thank you!!
2. Passover Gifts Sale on Shabbat Across America night, March 5. Call Lisa D. to help.
3. Temple Spring Cleaning Day on Saturday, March 13, 12:00 noon - ? p.m., following religious school. Come to clean with fellow congregants and make our Temple shine!
4. T.B.E. Community Passover Prep on Saturday, April 3; lotsa matzah, matzah balls and boiled eggs needed, volunteer veggie cutters & rice pilaf cookers needed, plus set-up at 12 noon or thereafter & clean-up help. Big thanks to Barry Verdi for organizing, buying and preparing our Passover feast again this year! Please call Lucy in Temple office to volunteer.
5. "Temple Beth Emet's Got Talent" Show on Saturday, April 24. Call Lisa D. to help.

  Have you heard?!

Chai Society recently purchased 10 new, navy blue fabric tablecloths for our round tables at Temple! Thank you Chai Society! We look forward to using these nice, new tablecloths in our temple's social hall for our special events for years to come, including for upcoming Shabbat Across America's Potluck Dinner at 6:00 p.m. on Friday, March 5th and Temple Beth Emet's Community Passover Seder at 6:00 p.m. on Saturday, April 3! Please join our Temple family at our newly clad tables for these upcoming events soon!

Havurahs!

There are three amazing Havurahs here at Temple Beth Emet.:

Havurah Shachar, which consist mainly of religious school parents, Havurah 007 and Simcha/L'Chaim Havurah. These Havurahs participate together in synagogue life, share simchas or even sorrows, but support one another throughout. They are close-knit groups within our temple family.

If you would like to join a Havurah or form a new one, contact Ruth Glick at (818)780-9134.
