"Talmud Torah K'Neged Kulam" (Study of Judaism is a protection against all else) Mishnah Pae 1:1

This past June, the Supreme Court ruled in favor of ending a discrimination that has existed in America since its inception and it got me to thinking. How could we, as a congregation, end discrimination in the Temple Beth Emet community? As I pondered this during the month of July, I conducted two Adult B'nei Mitzvah (plural of Bar or Bat Mitzvah) ceremonies and I saw what we could do. Judaism teaches that all of Judaism, when possible, should be opened to everyone, including the "stranger in your midst." To put it mildly, the B'nei Mitzvah ceremonies were magnificent, not because the students weren't well prepared; they were, as are all of our students. We take pride in our synagogue, our school and our students, but the magnificence came from the students themselves, as each expressed the desire to be a "full member" of the Jewish Community. Truthfully speaking, one can be a Bar or Bat Mitzvah by attaining the age of 12 for a girl and 13 for a boy. The age when, physically, boys become men and girls become women. So for B'nei Mitzvah, who conduct the Shabbat Service, the actual preparation and completion of the "B'nei Mitzvah" program must have meaning for them. I agree. It is meaningful, to be given a goal of learning what Judaism is, what its roots are, what it represents today, what our relationship with G-d is, why we do the things we do; and to become conversant with these ideas, learn Hebrew and lead the congregation, is monumental. Several adult B'nei Mitzvah have expressed that now they feel, "completed as Jews."

We are now, in the month of Elul, at a time when we begin to draw closer to G-D, ultimately reaching the zenith of closeness on Yom Kippor, the Day of AT ONE MENT (Atonement) with G-D. I want an uncomplicated way to accomplish that goal. What better way than to bring others closer to G-D? Those who have been rejected by Judaism, or those who have not found a place in the Jewish community, or those who were unable to complete their studies will now find acceptance. For too long the Jewish community has looked at the nuclear family as the "only" family. We must bring those who seek us into the fold. Then we must make them feel at home, so they will stay with us. The fabric of Judaism is unraveling. We need to repair, no, improve the Judaic weave of our congregants, utilizing the golden thread of opportunity which will bind us all together with the success of the complete Jewish experience. We are the people who believe in the collectiveness of G-D and the Jewish People, (Eloheinu, OUR G-D and Emanu OUR PEOPLE). Friends, let us end this discrimination in our congregation. Wouldn't it be great if all who wanted to feel complete about their Judaism had a facility that would allow them to do that? Wouldn't it be wonderful for those who were not able to take part in this educational process, when they were young, were able to do so now? Just think, if all were given the opportunity to complete what is considered to be the watershed of American Jewish Life, how much stronger would we be as a community? Wouldn't it be wonderful if people, who had been denied access to Judaism, suddenly found themselves welcomed with open arms to a class of fellow seekers?

I believe, each of us knows someone who has not had a Bar or Bat Mitzvah. Whether it was for financial, educational, physical, fear or "gender" reasons (i.e.; girls don't need a Bat Mitzvah, but boys must have a Bar Mitzvah), it does not matter. All that matters is a fellow Jew who feels lacking in their Judaism. Nudge, no, push them to join us. We are going to offer a class after High Holy Days, but there is much to prepare, so we need to have an idea of who is coming. If the person is interested has an email address, have them email the Temple at: office@TempleBethEmet. Write a short

PRESIDENT'S MESSAGE - August 2013

Believe it or not, the High Holidays are only about a month away. The quiet days of summer give way to the excitement and anticipation of our "big show." One-by-one all of the big and little things are being attended to. Good thing Jerry Engelberg made a list a while back to keep things on track! There is a banner to be hung, tickets to be printed, work crews to arrange to move the needed items to St. Jude's and set things up. There are children's services to plan, ushers to procure, and a Kol Nidre Appeal to write.

Then there are the actual services to plan. Being an independent congregation gives us the freedom to try new things, and over the years we experimented with different prayer books and cantorial talents. Last year our own Robyn Kreisberg took the cantorial role in addition to her usual role as accompanist. It is hard to chant prayers, play the keyboard, and lead the choir all at the same time! Additionally, Robyn did a great job with the traditional service, but we didn't take advantage of the breadth of her talent, knowledge, and creativity to increase the appeal of the services. This year will be different – wonderfully different!

This year we will have the assistance and influence of our own esteemed musical talent David Goldstein, not only on the keyboard but in working with Robyn to bring new music and musicians to our High Holiday services, while still presenting a complete service. This is the logical extension of our adoption of a contemporary Machzor that retains the traditional structure but adds modern readings. Our goal is to meet the needs of our veteran members and guests who expect a traditional service, while we offer a more updated experience to broaden our appeal. We hope to not only add to our High Holiday congregation but also to our Temple family as a whole.

You can help! You can add your voice to the choir, which has several members retiring. You can help us move and set up. You can be an usher! You can invite friends and family to join us for services. The cost of tickets can be fully applied to Temple membership. If you have skipped High Holiday services in the past, attend this year and add your voice as we make a "joyful noise to the Lord." Don't be shy. The psalm says "joyful noise," not necessarily one in key. The operative word, after all, is "noise!" Rosh Hashana is called "the birthday of the world." Join with us, the rest of your Temple Beth Emet family as we celebrate.

So while it might still be a little early, L'Shana Tova!

IRA L. GOLDSTEIN, President

message with your name and telephone number. If not, just call the Temple office and mention that you are interested in the "B'nei Mitzvah" class. We will do the rest. We will contact you. Also, the Adult B'nei Mitzvah class is not just geared towards leading a Shabbat Service. It is aimed at truly making each student a "son or daughter of the commandments," meaning you will be discussing all aspects of Judaism. There will be a textbook. I can hear the groaning, "Will there be tests and quizzes, papers to write, essays to give?" No, but there will be homework. Readings on Judaism will be assigned and a diary kept, so you can ask Rabbi questions on the material. It keeps me on my toes and makes it less stressful on the students. By the way, this is the method I use with my "Jews by Choice" students, so the class is open to those who want to more formally embrace Judaism. It will be open to anyone who wants a Bar or Bat Mitzvah

Then, when we say to these new students, "Barukeem Haba'eem," we are saying to them that they have given the congregation great blessings by wanting to learn. Learning is the highest form of Judaic endeavor and they have given us the ability to perform the Mitzvah of Talmud Torah (learning Judaism) to another person. We have the power, the ability and the desire, the Supreme Court only just reminded us of what we need to do to end discrimination here at Temple as they did for America.

B'ahava v'Shana Tova,

Rabbi Mark

JERRY ENGLEBERG'S CORNER

I have been told that all I do is complain. I know I complain a lot, BUT, I hope it is for the betterment of our Temple.

For many years I've been asking questions concerning the Temple. The problems I have seen for a long time are still here now. If we want to stay in existence they need to be addressed.

Some of my questions are:

- 1) Why doesn't EVERY program at the Temple have a budget?
- 2) Why do we have to hire outside people so much to fix things at the Temple? We have many qualified members who can help. Many are willing to help if only they were asked.
- 3) We need an "all hands working party" to help clean up OUR Temple at least once a year. As there is no school during the summer, why not clean the Temple?

4) We need more volunteers on Friday nights to purchase Oneg food and help in the kitchen. We need a real ritual schedule for welcomers, scripture readers, candle blessers, and people who have been assigned need to show up.

5) Family Promise is a joint community service project with St. Jude's Anglican Church. Why is it so hard to get volunteers to help those families in need?

I asked these questions over and over. I am asking the Temple board as well as you as members to think about these problems and hopefully come up with some solutions.

GOOD NEWS. . . In June we had a surprise fire department inspection, which we passed. They did recommend we make a few changes, but thank goodness they do not involve ANY financial expense.

Join us on Friday nights and help support our Temple.

Family Promise helps low income families achieve lasting independence.

TBE co-hosts families with St. Jude's Anglican Church. Service hours are available.

Thank you to all of you who participated in July's Family Promise Event. We appreciate your contributions of time, food and effort.

Our B'Nei Mitzvah was an amazing experience for the Abramson family. We will never forget it. We would like to thank Rabbi Mark, Kyle and Robyn for making it so special. Thanks to Fran and her crew and to Simcha/L'Chaim Havurah for arranging for the delicious refreshments afterward.

The love and well wishes we received from our friends at Temple Beth Emet was beyond words.

SISTERHOOD SIDELINES

AUGUST 2013

We were well fed at our July 7th meeting. Iris Abrams and her mom, Judy Kravitz, brought in a delicious coffee cake. Not to be outdone, Jerry Engelberg was in the kitchen baking a dark chocolate fudgy brownie cake. Needless to say, no one left hungry.

We are all excited for and proud of Sisterhood President, Shirley Abramson and her sons, Paul and Bill who will be B'nei Mitzvah on July 20th. Tracy Amster will be Bat Mitzvah during the same service. Stay tuned: More about this in next months Sisterhood Sidelines.

Coming next is the Temple Beth Emet Ice Cream Social on August 4th, 2:00 – 4:00 pm. Ice cream sundaes and topping galore will be served. There will be fun for the whole family. Games and surprise prizes: see flyer. MOST IMPORTANT: All profits will go into a special fund (setup by Sisterhood) to repair or replace the ailing Temple air conditioner. Donations are requested to cover the cost of the ice cream and to build our air conditioning fund. The more money we take in, the sooner we can have reliable air conditioning!! JOIN US FOR A COOL, FUN FILLED AFTERNOON!!

We are already working on the Honey Bear Boxes for Rosh Hashanah. There will be 8 oz. Honey Bears, recipes for honey cake, and a greeting card in each box. This is a lovely way to keep in touch with friends and family and to remember our men and women in the military.

The boxes will be assembled, wrapped, and shipped for you. Just tell us the names and addresses. We will do all the rest! The price for each Honey Bear Box is $13 to take with you, $13 to sponsor a box to a member of the military (by August 2nd) and $20 to mail anywhere in the United States. Make your list soon, so we can fill your orders.

In lieu of a regular meeting, on August 4th, we are going to meet in Blum Hall at 11:30 AM to setup and be ready for the Ice Cream Social. Please join us.

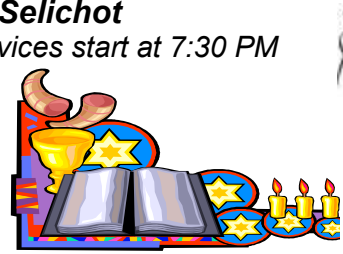

Do you ever wonder, "What can I do to help my Temple?" The answer is simple. Support Sisterhood Activities. Every activity we sponsor helps the Temple.

See you at The Ice Cream Social and we will see you as you order Honey Bear Boxes.

Shalom,
 Ruth Glick, VP
