(And Mordechai said to Esther) "For if you fail to speak up now, relief and deliverance will come to the Jews from a different direction; but you and your father's family will perish. Who knows whether you didn't come into your royal position precisely for such a time as this." (Esther 4:14)

One day last month, as I was standing in line to get a copy of a government document, the man standing in front of me seeing my kippah said, "Can I ask you a few questions?". As I was on Delano Street in Van Nuys and not Pico Robertson, I figured it would be something like, 'Why don't you accept Jesus as your Messiah?'. But, I was wrong!!! It was, "How do you explain what the book of Genesis says about '...giants, the mighty men, mating with 'human' women?' Boy, was I surprised!!!! I told him that when I was teaching school several years ago a new species of man was discovered who was much shorter than the other human species. (The new species is called Homo floresiensis "Flores Man"; nicknamed "Hobbit" and "Flo.") I then said to him that the narrator of the Torah, may have been from the small species, which meant that the giants (Nefillim, in Hebrew) were from the taller species of human. I also spoke to him about Goliath and he agreed. My conversation partner then asked me if we at Temple often have discussions and debates about the Bible. I said we sure do and I, personally, have lots of questions, especially about the first book, Genesis. Not all my questions are answered by Science or even linguistics, but I keep searching. He said they, at his church, were searchers, too. My only regret over the situation was that I didn't have my card with me to give him and invite him to join us so we could discover together.

This incident reminded me about something that happened a few weeks prior. I was discussing with a colleague possible scientific explanations for the Reed (Red) Sea phenomenon,

PRESIDENT'S MESSAGE - March 2015

Baruch Atah Adonai Eloheinu Melech ha'olam, ha-gomel l'hayavim tovot sheg'malani kol tov. Blessed are You, O Lord our God, Ruler of the Universe, who bestows kindness on those who are committed, and Who has granted to me all kindness. (Traditional prayer of thanks to be recited by one who has survived an illness or other dangerous situation.)

As many of you know, last month I underwent colon resection surgery. Some of you also know that a week after my discharge I was back in the hospital to deal with internal bleeding and resulting anemia. It seems the stress of surgery caused bleeding from two ulcers I never knew I had.

I am grateful for all the good wishes, expressions of concern, and prayers of the congregation. This was my first really serious health challenge, and the support of my Temple Beth Emet family has truly sustained me and my family.

There are so many little things I have noticed and appreciated since I got home. I made a beeline for my favorite recliner, which gave me a warm embrace. Sleeping in my own bed was a treat, as was a night undisturbed by people sneaking into the room to take vitals or stick me with needles. In the morning, there was the sound of a squirrel scampering across the roof -- a sound I have heard hundreds of times, but this time was so comforting.

Why does it so often take a disruption in our lives for us to appreciate all the blessings in our lives? Do we really need to be deprived of those things to realize how much we miss them? I think we need to take the time during our day to pay attention to the people and things that give our lives meaning and joy. In Psalm 90:12 we ask God to "teach us to number our days, that we may gain a heart of wisdom." We should appreciate every day of our lives and try to make each of them count. Sure, many days are mundane, and it is all too easy to think of them as a series of tasks to get through -- get up, go to work, come home, eat, watch TV, go to sleep -- but with a little more awareness, how many more blessings will we recognize?

What better time than now to start noticing what is around us? Even in Southern California the approach of spring brings wondrous changes. The air is filled with the scent of flowers -- especially citrus. Bare trees start to leaf. Spiritually, our calendar even begins to bloom with Purim and Pesach. Do any other of our holidays offer so much opportunity of individual involvement -- making noise with a grogger, dressing up in costume, eating hamentashen for Purim, the reading from the haggadah and the seder rituals for Passover? We need to appreciate each experience as the blessing it is.

And let us not forget to notice and appreciate the people around us, not just those entwined closely in our lives, but those with whom we are just in peripheral contact as well. Every experience is important and valuable.

Let us learn to number our days, not looking them as ticking away, but as blessings we collect and treasure, for then we will have attained a heart of wisdom.

-- IRA L. GOLDSTEIN, President

for example: whether it was the everyday occurrence of a drowned estuary or that G-d had, previously, revealed to Moses the exact location of a lowland swamp where the Israelites could pass through to freedom. My discussion partner felt that any scientific explanation lessened G-d's power to perform miracles and "rescues." I didn't believe that then and don't now. If you believe G-d is the Ultimate Judge, and Creator, then G-d created everything, even the computer, okay, G-d created the people who created the computer. What I learned from these two incidents for myself, each of us and our congregation, is that we are on the front lines of the struggle between those who believe in Judaism, those who don't believe in Judaism, those who believe in G-d or don't believe in G-d, and those who have no faith at all. And if we call upon science or comparative linguistics or any other intellectually sound matter, even humor or satire, to explain G-d's creations, then we are doing G-d's work. The Prophet Isaiah says it, "we are to be a light unto the nations" (even our own).

No-one knows when we will be called upon to speak up for our religion, for fellow believers and our peoples, so we must be ready. The methods we use to describe how G-d the Ultimate has made this world and the World to Come, I am sure will be as unique as each of us are. Please continue to study and to learn and perfect your uniquenesses. We never know when it will be our time to rescue people from ignorance. For truly no one knows why they are in their own "royal" position and we must be ready at all times to respond in a royal manner.

B'Ahava and b'sameah (joy) b'Adar,
Rabbi Mark

Attention: To all those interested in a trip to Israel. . . Our trip has been scheduled for January 21, 2016. If you are interested in going, please call the Temple Office to make a reservation. We already have a small, confirmed group, but would like to have more.

EDUCATION MATTERS - RSPA PRESIDENT, DAVID GOLDSTEIN

The Religious School students, parents and staff would like to cordially invite the congregation, as well as their friends, families and neighbors to attend our annual school Purim Carnival on March 8th at 10:30 AM. In addition to being one of our major fundraisers, the Carnival is one of the highlights of the Religious School year and is planned and put on each year primarily by the older Religious School students (this year by the 6/7-Bar/Bat Mitzvah and Confirmation classes) assisted by staff and parents. This year's Carnival is shaping up to be one of our best ever; with the addition of some new games and activities, as well as the return of some old favorites. Highlights will include Carnival games, a petting zoo, a cake walk, music, food, a Silent Auction (items to be auctioned off include a unique gift basket put together by the parents and students of each class) and much more. Please see the flyer in this issue of the Chai Times or contact the Temple Office for more information.

Planning is currently underway for our Original Works fundraiser which brought in several hundred dollars for the Temple last year, while at the same time providing individualized Mothers' Day gifts and keepsakes for the Religious School moms. Information about this will be going out to all Religious School parents, if there are any other Temple members who are interested in participating, please contact Tracy Hyman at 62tlsh@gmail.com.

And finally, congratulations go out to Quinn Margolis, Aidan Solomons, and Jason Glass, and to their families who recently celebrated their Bar Mitzvahs. The Religious School parents and staff would like to express our pride in their achievement and to welcome these young people as adult members of our congregation.

The Temple with a Heart

A WORD ABOUT a TBE COLLEGIATE PROGRAM

Do You Have a Son and/or Daughter In College?

Temple Beth Emet has started a program to connect with our students attending a College. We would like to help them to continue their Jewish way of life and offer them additional support. This way, they will always have an open line of communication with our Rabbi, should they have questions or need direction; and we will remind them of their link to Israel and to keep connected to the Jewish Community. After college, we hope to have them join our Temple, as an adult.

Please send e-mail and give me the following information:

The name of the Student;

What semester and year the Student is just starting or continuing their education;

Name of the University, and;

If the Student is a member of any organization or club on campus.

The Temple will send a care-package for each holiday, as a gift to the Student with a calendar of events at the Temple for each month. The Student will be invited to all events sponsored by the Temple. We would like to encourage the Student to return to the Temple as often as they wish; as the Temple would like to offer itself as a second home and place of Jewish learning. I look forward hearing from you.

Thank you,

LET'S TURN OUR POCKET CHANGE INTO REAL CHANGE!

Who is Just5Club? J5 is a nonprofit organization helping those who are silently struggling financially. In November of 2013, six young professionals came up with a simple idea; a concept that beautifully ties the act of giving with uniting individuals from all corners of the world. At J5 we believe in the power of unity, where each individual has the power to make a difference. When people are united with one common goal in mind, even the smallest amount can make a significant impact in the world we live in today.

Here's how it works, it's easy!

1. Log on to www.j5club.org
2. Sign up to become a Just5 member with your credit card
3. Each month, your credit card is charged JUST $5.
4. At the end of every month, all the money is gathered and donated to a family or individual in need of financial assistance. Whether it's an emergency of being evicted from one's home or payment for medical bills, such as cancer treatment, J5 is there to help!

*100% of our members' donations go to the recipients; all other fees are sponsored from either the board or other donors!

*Each month, we send out a J5 Newsletter, letting our members and other subscribers know exactly whom they have helped.
