Temple Beth Emet of Burbank

"The Temple With A Heart"

"Don't ask yourself what the world needs, ask yourself what makes you come alive. And then go and do that. Because what the world needs is people who are alive."

Rev. Howard Thurman

In a few days we will begin the 10 holiest days in the Jewish calendar. I wish one year, America would respect my need to repent and just leave me alone with my thoughts. But it won't.

Please forgive me, I am not talking about leading High Holy Day services and blowing the Shofar on the second day of Rosh Hashanah for the newest members of the Temple Beth Emet family. That I don't ever want to escape from or have it leave my life.

No, I am talking about the 11 o'clock news, which starts out with a car chase, a shooting, a hit and run, etc. How can I be a positive influence on people when everyday my soul gets bombarded? And no, I can't just turn off the TV. Thank G-d, people still talk to me and ask for help. The problem for me as for all of us is that this world is becoming so overwhelmingly disrespectful.

How do I keep from falling into the depths of despair? Let me relate two stories about how children saved me.

When I was a freshman at Rutgers, I fell in love with a wonderful young lady. When I realized, not only did she not love me, but I believe she used me to make her "serious" boyfriend jealous, I was devastated. For days, I was inconsolable. A good friend of mine, Joseph Pawlick, told me about a volunteer program that met every Saturday afternoon. All we had to do was be with these "special education" students and help them achieve what they

PRESIDENT'S MESSAGE - October 2016

How shall we approach the High Holidays? We may have been taught that the Days of Awe are serious, solemn, fearful times when our lives over the past year are carefully measured and our fate for the coming year determined. Maybe we see it as a cleansing time, when we settle accounts with God and others, and go forth with a fresh slate.

Let us consider another vision of the Days of Awe, as a time for a mutual reconnection between the Holy One and the holy spirit within each of us. In 1955, Rabbi Abraham Joshua Hershel published a book God in Search of Man: A Philosophy of Judaism. I have to admit that it has been too long since I read the book to recall all the content. I found my copy from college, and after doing some repair to the paperback binding, I am putting it in line with the other books I intend to read or re-read. Additionally, there is a phrase contained in Gates of Prayer for Shabbat and Weekdays, our former prayer book, that speaks of the synagogue as "the sanctuary of Israel" and pronounces, "Let all the family of Israel, all the who hunger for righteousness, all who seek the Eternal, find God here -- and here find life!"

God in search of humanity, humanity in search of God. We reach out and embrace each other during the High Holidays. We reconnect and reconcile. We ask and God grants forgiveness, pardon, and atonement. God asks and we commit to being ethical, charitable and humble, and to do acts of loving kindness. We ask God to take care of our souls, and God asks us to take care of God's creation, including the Earth and its population.

I like this vision because it illustrates the mutual obligations and responsibilities of humanity and God -- I guess it appeals to my legal training. It also makes it easier to make the commitment to follow God's teaching when we realize that God has also made a commitment to us. Judaism is founded on the Covenant made at Sinai. That Covenant was bilateral. We are partners. Each party benefits and depends on the other to do their part.

So when we gather on Rosh Hashanah and Yom Kippur (and Sukkot and Simcha Torah) and we greet each other and say, "It's good to see you again!" and ask, "How have your been?" and promise, "Let's not let it be another year before we reconnect with each other," let us be mindful that these are not things we are saying only to each other, they are things that we, individually and as a community, are saying to God, and God is saying to us.

Let's keep in touch.

On behalf of the Temple administration as well as my family, I wish you l'shanah tova tikatevu, may it be a good sweet year for all of us.

-- IRA L. GOLDSTEIN, President

wanted to achieve. One Saturday, a spry 9 year just wanted to throw a ball and have an adult get it and bring it back to her. For one whole hour that is all I did. I still can see the look on her face of empowerment. No longer was she powerless. Her laughter and joy spoke volumes, not only of her empowerment but of showing me that I could mean something to another human being.

In 1995, it became obvious that if I stayed teaching Middle School, a real tragedy would occur. As you all well know, I love to tell jokes. The only bad joke is the one that hurts another Human being. That was where my humor was going. I had lost the capacity to love children.

I had been doing Summer school at a Spec. Ed. Center, a euphemism for school for Severely Handicapped children. They had an opening, so I transferred. After 6 years there, I had learned to love children again. I learned sign language so the children who were non-verbal could communicate with us and with each other. We took them swimming so legs atrophied could be used to help young bodies float and children could feel the freedom of weightlessness. We walked together to restaurants so our children could feel empowered to choose and order food. Simple to us but monumental to them. We all built together a monument of love for each other, physically, spiritually and uniquely.

At that school, we would say, "Here, after you have given all you can give, you give love." The love those children gave me still fills my soul. The debt I owe them is priceless.

Empowering another Human Being Empowers oneself. Empowerment can be as unique as that person is. As we sit in shul, feeling sad and inadequate and needy, let us all vow to find a person whom we can empower. And as the V'ahavta says, let us do it, physically, spiritually but most definitely, uniquely. Because we are unique and they are also unique. The act of loving is an act of T'shuvah for G-d wants us to return to Him/Her and empower as he did Adam and Eve.

As they were charged with the guardianship of all of Earth's creatures, so may those who will be empowered through our love and adoration, know they have ownership of a portion of our souls

B'Ahava and Shanah Tova,

Rabbi Mark

It has been an exciting month at Temple Beth Emet. After several years in the planning stages our Temple Beth Emet Early Childhood Center (Preschool) is now open. Congratulations to our Director Elaine and teacher Hayley on all of the hard work they have put into getting the Preschool up and running. (In an interesting coincidence, Hayley was once a Preschool student of our Religious School K/1 with teacher Shirley Kirschenbaum!) My understanding is that there is still a limited amount of space available for new students; if you or anyone you know are interested in having your 2-5 year old becoming a member of our charter class of Preschool students, please contact Elaine Rosenfeld or the Temple office for more information and/or a tour of our brand new facility.

The 2016/17 Religious School year got off to a great start on September 11th, as we welcomed back our returning students and their families. We are pleased that many new students have joined us this year, as well. Our Religious School Parents Association is busily planning our holiday activities for the year. Thanks to Jessica Wertlieb, Cherie Rye, and Leora Dreyfuss for serving as this year's Room Parents (I may have one more Room Parent serving, if so I will give you the name to include when I know who it is). During the month of October, our students will be celebrating the High Holidays; Children's Services will be held concurrently with our Adult High Holiday Services at St. Jude's on October 3 (Rosh Hashanah) and October 12 (Yom Kippur) at 10:00 AM. Later this month our K/1 families will be assisting in the preparation of our annual Sukkot Breakfast on October 23rd.

This year's Adult Education series will begin next month on November 15 and continues on the 3rd Tuesday of each month at 7:00 PM through the month of March. The topic for this year's series will be "What Does Judaism Say About. . ." with the subject of our first class being Spirituality in Prayer. Rabbi Mark works hard each year to put together unique and thought provoking classes for the series. Classes are open to the public and a nominal $5 donation for each class (or just $20 for the entire series of 5 classes) is requested.

Please plan on joining us for these educational and lively discussions.

Temple Beth Emet's littlest learners have been so busy since we opened our doors on September 6! While the children were getting to know their new friends, new teacher and new surroundings, the parents were enjoying morning updates - complete with photos of their little ones having a great time. There was lots of painting, cutting, gluing, decorating, water, sand and mud play, dress up, block building, singing, dancing and cooking going on! As we've heard from a few parents...children that were no longer napping are now napping again or in bed VERY early!

Dear Members:

Our next meeting will be October 2nd at 1:00 AM in Blum Hall. I would like all you to attend our next meeting if you can. I am sure that there are many of you that I haven't met. I look forward to making your acquaintance.

As you may know, my ultimate goal, is to get every lady who is a member of the Temple, to also be a member of the Sisterhood. The Sisterhood did quite well on soliciting new members the morning of September 11th at our Open House. We had quite a few families re-register their kids for Religious School and a couple of the mothers joined Sisterhood for the first time. We had a few new Temple members who also joined Sisterhood. I thought we did quite well for the day. Even though we are a social group and enjoy getting together, our fundraising efforts seem to eventually go to the good of the Temple. I want to remind you all that it is so important to support the activities of the Sisterhood. The more money we raise, the more we can do nicer things for the members and the Temple. If you should know a lady that who is not able to belong to a Temple, or maybe she just wants to be a part of a group, please let her know about us; as our By-Laws state that one does not need to be a member of the Temple to join the Sisterhood. We will welcome her with open arms.

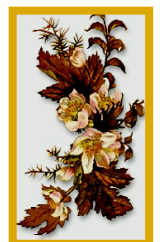

The Estate Sale, which was scheduled for Sunday, the 18th of September, had to be canceled at the last minute. It turned out that there is a permit to be completed by the City of Burbank, Planning Department, before a commercial entity, such as a Temple, may sell goods and/or food items. This is a two-week process for them and there was no way we could get them to complete the permit in time. At the Sisterhood meeting on October 2nd, we will discuss a new date to have the Estate Sale. It will be either in November or December, whatever we decide, we will post it in the Chai Times on the first of that month.

We are selling our annual Honey Boxes from Rosh Hashanah through Yom Kippur. A form is on Page 10 of this issue of the Chai Times, where you can indicate how many boxes you would like to purchase and to whom, if any, you would like mailed for you. The Sisterhood has voted to keep the prices the same as last year; a box for $13, and a box mailed to whomever you designate, for $20. I mailed boxes to the military on behalf of the Sisterhood, so if you would like to make a donation to the Sisterhood by purchasing a military box, the Sisterhood would greatly appreciate your donation of just $13 a box. Even though many of our military have been called back home, there are still many of our servicemen and women around the world serving our country. There are also many on bases around the country, as well as in the reserves. There was a call for more Honey Boxes than the Sisterhood was able to provide, so those donations for military boxes are critical in reaching out to Jews who don't have a support system. We want as many Jewish servicemen and women to know that we appreciate what they are doing and that are welcome here at Temple Beth Emet.

Our High Holiday services will again be at St. Jude's this year. The Sisterhood will have a table with apples and honey near the Reception Hall, after each service for you to partake in a sweet New Year. I am looking forward to seeing all of you and hearing our choir. Last New Year's, I started experiencing Teshuvah, the returning to my true self. I am still in the process of living the Jewish life that I have longed to live for some time. I want to thank you all for that.

Every year on the Sunday between the holidays, our local mortuaries sponsor a Kever Avot service to remember the dead, which is a wonderful concept. This gives my mother and me, as well as hundreds of others in the Southland, the opportunity to visit the graves of our loved ones on this day after the Service. The mortuary has not only helped us create another "Mother-Daughter Day," but it has reinforced our responsibility to tend to the graves of our dearly departed.

I have not heard anything about Family Promise for the month of October. Should I hear of their families staying at St. Jude's during the month, I will reach out to the Sisterhood. Family Promise is very grateful to both us and St. Jude's.

Do You Have a Son and/or Daughter In College?

Temple Beth Emet has started a program to connect with our students attending a College. We would like to help them to continue their Jewish way of life and offer them additional support. This way, they will always have an open line of communication with our Rabbi, should they have questions or need direction; and we will remind them of their link to Israel and to keep connected to the Jewish Community. After college, we hope to have them join our Temple, as an adult.

Please send e-mail and give me the following information:

The name of the Student;

Class Level;

Address;

Name of the University, and;

If the Student is a member of any organization or club on campus.

The Temple will send a care-package for each holiday, as a gift to the Student with a calendar of events at the Temple for each month. The Student will be invited to all events sponsored by the Temple. We would like to encourage the Student to return to the Temple as often as they wish; as the Temple would like to offer itself as a second home and place of Jewish learning. I look forward hearing from you!

What is the book we will read and discuss: Flower of God by Herbert Ausubel: The story of a Jewish Family's 3,000 year journey from spice to medicine.

Where to get the book: The book is available on Kindle and Amazon.com, as well as local libraries. Please read the book and be prepared to discuss it.

Cost of Participating: Free!

Synopsis: Flower of God tells the story of the author's paternal ancestral family from the time of the Temple of Solomon to the present: their migration from ancient Israel to Babylon, to Persia, to Anatolia, to Europe and finally to the United States.

Dr. Herbert Ausubel's saga of his family history is a captivating story of the Jewish experience, at once universal and unique. It is Everyman's tale, and the family's struggles are immediately recognized by anyone who knows something of the immigrant's journey, whatever the ethnicity. It is easy to empathize with the characters because Ausubel captures their humanity, and their difficult search for a hard-won life of dignity, purpose and acceptance.

This book is a testament to the unbelievable courage of the Jewish people and the indomitable human spirit. William Faulkner's marvelous Nobel Prize acceptance speech provides the perfect summary of their struggle: "We will not merely endure, we will prevail."*

LET'S TURN OUR POCKET CHANGE INTO REAL CHANGE!

Who is Just5Club? J5 is a nonprofit organization helping those who are silently struggling financially. In November of 2013, six young professionals came up with a simple idea; a concept that beautifully ties the act of giving with uniting individuals from all corners of the world. At J5, we believe in the power of unity, where each individual has the power to make a difference. When people are united with one common goal in mind, even the smallest amount can make a significant impact in the world we live in today.

Here's how it works, it's easy!

1. Log on to www.j5club.org
2. Sign up to become a Just5 member with your credit card
3. Each month, your credit card is charged JUST $5.
4. At the end of every month, all the money is gathered and donated to a family or individual in need of financial assistance. Whether it's an emergency of being evicted from one's home or payment for medical bills, such as cancer treatment, J5 is there to help!

*100% of our members' donations go to the recipients; all other fees are sponsored from either the board or other donors!
*Each month, we send out a J5 Newsletter, letting our members and other subscribers know exactly whom they have helped.
