"The Temple With A Heart"

HADESH YAMEINU K'KEDEM (Make our Days new like long ago.)

Prayer book

Last month, in the course of one day, I was given a lesson that I want to share with you.

A fellow clergy, when I first met him, invited me to join him and others to a dinner barbeque at his house. I explained that I kept kosher, but he insisted that the meat was permissible, because it was Halal, Islam practices its own form of Kosher called Halal, I was in a bind, I did not want to refuse, but it was right before Passover. So I told him I was needed to help Mina at home.

Last month, he hosted a meeting of our clergy group and had lunch prepared. What am I going to do I thought? I confess, without finding out about lunch, I blurted out to my fellow clergy, the story of the Halal/Kosher situation. As we sat down for lunch, our host announced, "Everything is Kosher for you, Mark," "Oh G-d, I thought, here we go again." But then he added, "It is all vegetarian." I then turned to my fellow clergy who were sitting close to me and whispered, "I apologize for what I said before." They nodded at hearing that.

PRESIDENT'S MESSAGE - January 2017

This month we inaugurate a new President of the United States. This change of administration comes after a uniquely contentious and ugly campaign that started well over a year before the election. It is safe to say that the country had not been as divided as it is since the Civil War and, like that war, the struggle was not only between neighbors but within families as well. Some of the divisions over the election will continue as rifts between former friends for years, perhaps forever.

I don't know anyone who is really happy with the result of the election. Obviously, my more progressive friends and family are distraught, but many of my more conservative friends and family are also unhappy, albeit relieved.

Our new President has a public persona that he has cultivated for years. The way he ran his "boardroom" on his television series, the way he conducted his rallies during the campaign, even the expression he wears, all seek to convey a certain toughness. But a President is not always supposed to be tough. Sometimes a President has to be calm. Sometimes a President has to be compassionate and comforting. Sometimes a President has to be eloquent and inspiring. Sometimes a President has to be strong and clear-headed.

I am not sure our new President can be these things. I am not sure he has surrounded himself with people who can help him cultivate the skills necessary, and I am not sure he even wants to. I may be wrong and I hope I am, but I am more concerned about the timber of the person we have placed in the White House than any other person in my lifetime.

There are some who say "he's not my President." I am not one of those people. Whatever my personal feelings toward him, he will be President of the United States, and I am a citizen of the United States. Under the Constitution, which both he and I live under, he is my President and I am his constituent. I hope his administration is beneficial for the country and the world because I have no choice but to hope for that result. I will respect his authority and the office he will hold, I will criticize him when I think he or his policies are wrong and I will praise when I think he or his policies are beneficial.

I am particularly concerned with the possible effect of the ferocity of this election on the fundamental character of the people of this country. Are we still a good and decent people? Are we still a charitable and giving people? Are we still a humble and modest people? Should a national tragedy strike -- God forbid -- will we come together to help each other, to mourn together, to heal together? I hope so, and I have confidence of the general integrity of our citizenry that we will.

Each of us can help assure we are the best Americans we can be. We can be less strident with our opinions. We can be more accepting of our differences. We can remember that we have one mouth and two ears and use them accordingly -- listening to others more and talking less. We can resist ascribing bad motives or bad morals to those who do not act or look or behave as we do. We can look for the best in each other and learn from each other.

We can choose to be guided by, what Lincoln referred to at another time our nation was divided, the "better angels of our nature."

-- IRA L. GOLDSTEIN, President

Later that night, while on my ride along with the Burbank PD, we were called to a situation involving a female patron in a restaurant who was disturbing other people by staring at them. When we arrived there, another officer was asking the woman some innocuous questions about residency. To every question, she answered. "No," even when it contradicted her previous answer. Our first thought was that it was some form of dementia.

But later at Headquarters, I had another thought. What if she just did not understand English? I have reached out to my Chaplain's group and we are compiling a list of languages we speak and will give the cyber phrase dictionary to the police, so they can share this with people who seem not to understand English. If you have ever been in a foreign country where not understanding the language was uncomfortable at least, and dangerous at most, you know what I mean.

The holidays are almost over and while, hopefully, calmness has returned, often it does not. We still do not understand someone else's language. And because we misinterpret their intentions, we speak poorly of them.

Two things I ask of all of us, first listen to the words and then the tone of what is being asked of us. Then after the situation is over, whether you are still there or away, think deeply into what could be the POSITIVE reason for another person's comments. Give people the benefit of the doubt. We see the Torah as a tree of life. Try finding the positive (olive) branch in the conversational foliage, even though the roots of your "adversarial" relationship may be deep and "windy" (long i). Next, in all conversations make sure you both are speaking and understanding the same language. Words don't always have the same meaning in another language. I can say many things in many languages, but I don't always know the deeper meaning. For example: When I would say something in Spanish, I would say to my students, "Leave me alone, I speak Spanish like a gringo!" The students would laugh, and I would laugh, too, because no Anglo had ever called themselves a gringo, due to its hidden meaning.

When we all laughed together, the boundary from Gringo to Latino was broken, as was the boundary from teacher to student. Then we were all were able to learn from each other.

Let us strive to understand each other's language. Not only the words but the hidden spiritual and even mystical meaning of love and caring in the words. Let us not let language stand in our way of understanding each other but bring us together in joy.

Let all our days become new as when, years ago, we were children and language helped us communicate with each other bringing with it the spirit of caring and love,

B'ahava,

Rabbi Mark

Happy New Year to our Temple Beth Emet family; I hope 2017 is a year filled with health, happiness, and prosperity for all of you.

The month of December was a busy and festive one here at the Temple, On December 19th, the Religious School held its most enjoyable and successful Hanukkah Celebration and Fundraising Performance ever which raised almost $700, in much needed funds for our Temple and Religious School. Many thanks to the members of our Parents Association for organizing this event and to the many Religious School families who donated the food items that were served at the luncheon following the performance, as well as for all of the items needed for the original musical which was once again written specifically for the occasion by Rabbi Mark and Robyn Kreisberg. We were delighted to be joined for the first time by the students of our Preschool, whose performance opened the show. After a well-deserved Winter Break, our students will be returning to Religious School on January 8th.

Our Adult Education series "What Does Judaism Say About....." continued on December 20th, with a lively discussion the subject of which was "Meaning in the Mundane". The series continues through the month of March; please join us for our next class on January 17th, at which we will be discussing "Life's Unique Purpose." The Rabbi prepares thought provoking material for these classes, which combine his teachings with a chance for class members to share their perspective on the subject matter. Our classes are open to all Temple members, as well as any interested members of the community and there is a requested donation of just $5 per class. I hope to see you there!"

This has been a month of first's at Temple Beth Emet's Preschool! The first Room Parents selected, the first Share Day initiated (rocks that came all the way from Arizona), the first professional photos taken, the first Birthday celebration, the first Pajama Day, the first Thanksgiving Feast and now Hanukkah and "December Holidays, the Musical!". Oh, and the second one of our TBE Preschoolers to become a big brother!!

With all the firsts this year, we are thrilled to announce the second baby born to a TBE Preschool family! Congratulations!

A happy birthday girl! There's nothing more heartwarming than a happy child!

This photo needs no explanation... its just adorable and very useful for the littlest learners among us!

Pajama Day at Preschool! A nice, relaxing day for the children... ready for naptime, way in advance!

Our youngest TBE students gather to begin celebrating Hanukkah together.

Hanukkah was happily celebrated by our preschool children with the help of some loving and helpful Hanukkah helpers.

Retro photo: Thanksgiving was fun for our Preschoolers,

Hanukkah. Our little preschoolers had a wonderful celebration at Preschool.

Our little preschool children prepare to offer a first rate musical presentation for Hanukkah... they turned in a stellar performance!

We have a wonderful Jewish Book Club at Temple!

Conducted by Fran Bourne-Johnson.

Where: Blum Hall at TBE

When: Tuesday, January , 2017 7:00PM to 8:30 PM

What is the book we will read and discuss: Rashi's Daughters: Rachel, Book III by Maggie Anton

Synopsis: Rachel is the youngest and most beautiful daughter of medieval Jewish scholar Salomon ben Isaac, or "Rashi." Her father's favorite and adored by her new husband, Eliezer, Rachel's life looks to be one of peaceful scholarship, laughter and love. But events beyond her control will soon threaten everything she holds dear. Marauders of the First Crusade massacre nearly the entire Jewish population of Germany, and her beloved father suffers a stroke. Eliezer wants their family to move to the safety of Spain, but Rachel is determined to stay in France and help her family save the Troyes yeshiva, the only remnant of the great centers of Jewish learning in Europe.

As she did so effectively in Joheved and Miriam, Maggie Anton vividly brings to life the world of eleventh-century France and a remarkable Jewish woman of dignity, passion and strength.

Where to get the book: The book is available on Kindle and Amazon.com, as well as local libraries.

Please read the book and be prepared to discuss it.

Cost of Participating: Free!

The Book Club will meet on the 4th Tuesday of every month. The group will discuss what the next book will be at the meeting, as well as the format of the discussion group.

You may contact Fran at franbourne@gmail.com or call her at (617) 306-3835.

Fran Bourne-Johnson is enthusiastically inviting you to attend. She will warmly welcome the readers and a lively discussion is expected. The book she is recommending is both exciting and interesting. What a great way to socialize AND improve your mind! Let's get together and share a great reading experience.

Dear Members:

Our next meeting will be January 8th at 10:00 AM in Blum Hall. I would like all interested people to attend our next meeting. I am sure that there are many of you out there that I haven't met yet. I look forward to making your acquaintance.

On December 3rd, the Temple sponsored an "Evening of Fun," in order to raise money to renovate the bathrooms in the Temple. The documentary was, "The History of the Jewish Delicatessen." It was quite enlightening and fun, like the one the Sisterhood sponsored. I think we all left that night with a craving for deli food! Many of you from Sisterhood attended and I want to thank you all for supporting Temple Beth Emet.

From the day after Thanksgiving to the first night of Hanukkah, Barnes & Noble sponsored their annual gift wrap table for organizations to make extra money from donations by the public. Organizations vie for the days and shifts, and Barnes & Noble provides the table with their own paper. We were able to get quite a few shifts again this year. The ladies signed up for the shifts that they were able to work, and I had them bring their own bows and ribbons, which Barnes & Noble does not provide. I purchased over a dozen rolls of paper for different holidays/occasions, in order to get people to ask us to wrap their gifts, and donate money to the Sisterhood. We received quite a sum in donations, and the ladies had a great time working the fundraiser. The event gave them the opportunity to get to know better some of their fellow members of the Sisterhood. The two ladies who worked the most shifts were Ruth Glick and Eileen Martin. I would like to thank these two ladies for their dedication to our Sisterhood. I would also like to thank Dana Sapper for bringing her own hand-made gift tags to put on the gifts, which resulted in a crowd and made quite a bit in donations! Kudos to all three ladies! In addition, I would like to thank the special lady who coordinated this event for the second year...Hannah Cline. It wasn't enough that she coordinated the dates and the shifts but, because she lives not far from the Burbank Media Center, she walked over to the Barnes & Noble to help cover the shifts that she that she was not able to schedule at least two people or she sat at the table until the scheduled person arrived. She went above and beyond the responsibility of coordinator, which showed her real dedication to Sisterhood and made this event happen again. The Sisterhood is very grateful to have Hannah Cline with us. Then again, I would like to thank all the ladies who participated in making this fundraiser a success. Our success depends on your work.

Every year the Burbank Media Center Mall puts a large menorah in the public area just outside of the Burlington Coat Factory. Since this Hanukkah was the last week of December, Temple Beth Emet lighted that menorah on Thursday, the 29th and Friday, the 30th. Thursday evening was the Sisterhood's night to sponsor the lighting of the menorah, which we do every year with the making and giving of jelly donuts, in keeping with our Hanukkah tradition of enjoying food that has been fried in oil. Every year we have people stop by to wish us well and to listen to the Rabbi talk about the holiday of Hanukkah. The children love putting jelly into their donuts and the giving of something free to the public which reinforces our dedication to the community and conveys our willingness to open our hearts and doors to others. We thank the Burbank Media Center Mall for honoring the Jewish Community with a menorah every year.

One responsibility of the Sisterhood is to serve after Bar/Bat Mitzvahs, weddings and funerals when the Service is conducted at the Temple. Even though the Service for my Father's passing was conducted at the Mortuary, my Mother and I would like to thank very much the three ladies who shopped, set up and prepared Blum Hall for the reception. Once again Barbara Bolter, Barbara Lux and Shirley Abramson did a wonderful job of putting together everything for our guests and for making them all feel at home at Temple Beth Emet even though for most of them it was their first time there. I now know what it feels like to have people working selflessly to make your event come off without a hitch, and how grateful people must have been for my service in the past.

This month's meeting will be to plan our next six months, so I will keep everyone posted on what is decided. The Sisterhood wishes that your Hanukkah holiday was a joyous one.

Yours in the Sisterhood,

Cathy Zitnick
Sisterhood President

Do You Have a Son and/or Daughter In College?

Temple Beth Emet has started a program to connect with our students attending a College. We would like to help them to continue their Jewish way of life and offer them additional support. This way, they will always have an open line of communication with our Rabbi, should they have questions or need direction; and we will remind them of their link to Israel and to keep connected to the Jewish Community. After college, we hope to have them join our Temple, as an adult.

Please send e-mail and give me the following information:

The name of the Student;

Class Level;

Address;

Name of the University, and;

If the Student is a member of any organization or club on campus.

The Temple will send a care-package for each holiday, as a gift to the Student with a calendar of events at the Temple for each month. The Student will be invited to all events sponsored by the Temple. We would like to encourage the Student to return to the Temple as often as they wish; as the Temple would like to offer itself as a second home and place of Jewish learning. I look forward hearing from you!

Thank you,
