"The Temple With A Heart"

"When you're a jet, you're a jet all the way, from your first cigarette to your last dying day. .
You're never alone. You're never disconnected!
You're home with your own when company's expected. You're well protected."
(Lyrics from West Side Story)

Roughly two weeks ago, we as a nation were shocked to hear of the death of 27 people, including 20 Kindergarten and first graders in Connecticut. This tragedy is flooding my thoughts and feelings, as I type this, so please forgive me. This horrific event goes beyond normal words. The grief, the pain, the sadness, is monumental but, as a Historian, I want to place it in context. This event happened 3 days after the shooting in a mall in Oregon, four months after a religious community in Wisconsin was attacked, and 5 months after the Aurora, Colorado Movie Theater tragedy. What did all these events have in common? The death of innocents, surely, the use of ill-gotten firearms, most definitely, but also, the actions of a person spoken of as a "loner," "being different," or "not quite normal." Someone was angry, violent and feeling inadequate, hence, the use of automatic weapons to gain equality. As I pondered the reports from all the events, some recent and some older, I began to wonder. I have a bad temper. In fact, my mother warned me as a teenager, when I grew to be this size, that someday my temper would get me hurt badly, or that I would really hurt someone. What, under great stress, has prevented that from happening? I think about it often and, although some of you have seen me yell, I don't think any of you are in fear for your lives during one of my tirades. I truly believe that the reason my temper has lessened over time was because I never felt totally alone. Even during the most radical changes in my life, the move to California, I had friends waiting for me. And when romantic relationships failed, they were always there to help me through the abyss of loneliness. Their words of consolation, jest and criticism, of the other person of course, kept me out of depression and despair and helped give me an optimistic hope for there being a future for relationships for me. In other words, they "nudged" me, they cajoled me and they helped me feel good about myself.

The individuals who committed the acts of violence in Connecticut, Oregon, Wisconsin, and Colorado were "ill," or how else could they kill so indiscriminantly? How could they deny life to others, as well as themselves? As we all know illnesses have symptoms that are manifest. This is where I feel we, as a society, have failed. Each of us knows someone who is suffering from loneliness and/or depression. Loss of significant other, loss of job, loss of faith, loss of face, leads one down the path to violence. We can do much to help others. Even before someone reaches out to you for a kind word or expression, reach out to them. Do, as my friends and my family, did so many times for me. After I left the Ph.D. program at USC, my father and stepmother came to visit California. In the car ride from the airport to the valley, my father asked me, "How are you feeling?" I replied, "Fine." A few minutes later, he asked me again, "How are you feeling?" I again replied, "Fine." By the third time he asked, I knew what he really meant. Being asked to leave the Ph.D. program was a crushing blow to me. I had never failed to receive any higher degree I had sought. What my father was really asking me was 'are you able to have positive feelings about yourself, now that you believe you are a failure?' My response of "fine" was really, "now that I have begun to study for my Special Education degree and have friends helping me, things are looking more positive." The verbal shorthand between my father and me, I recommend to you all. If you're not comfortable with the phrase, "How are you feeling?," then just call and say, "I just called to touch base with you." Or, "I was just thinking about you," or "How are you doing?" The word "doing" implies moving forward. A subliminal suggestion? Perhaps, who cares! The idea is Great! Help others to help themselves. Help them to move forward. A joke I have heard and told, says, "How many Jewish mothers does it take to change a light bulb?" Answer, "None, I'll just sit here in the dark and wait for you to call!!!" Why does this make us laugh? Because it is so ridiculous! Jewish mothers don't wait for us to call, THEY CALL and call and call!!! We need to all be Jewish Mothers! CALL, Ask, listen, gently nudge, talk to and be with the person. A quote from a Glenn Campbell song, "Unconditional Love" says it best, "There were times I know I let them down, But never once was I rejected, And when I stood alone to face this world, Somehow I still felt protected." Although this song speaks to parents and children, it tells us all so much. We must protect those who need protecting and support those who need support. Let us do it to honor the memory of the fallen children and the grief of the parents and because no one should ever be alone in this world.

B'ahava, Rabbi Mark

Recent words of comfort at a support group at NAMI (National Association for Mental Illness):

To the Great Mystery
Whoever or whatever we call You
If there is a need to pray
Now is the time
Now is the time to join together
As one
As one crying, distressed nation
Hear our cries
Hear our great pleas
Help those who struggle with mental disabilities get the help they need
Help us to help them
Help us to guide them
Help us to speak out for them,
For sometimes they cannot speak for themselves
In our tears and sorrows
In our hurts and anguishes
We beg You
Great Mystery
Great Spirit
Great One
Console those who are grieving
And help us to know how to go on
And how to serve this population that is so neglected.
We ask this in the name of Holiness,
In the name of what is right
In the Spirit of compassion and kindness
We call on You
We call on You

Have you ever seen or witnessed prejudiced acts? Of course, you have. Bullying is a form of prejudice. In college, I was asked where my horns were! The Holocaust was based on these types of acts. Slavery was based on prejudice. Prejudice is a preconceived judgment toward, to name a few, gender, social class, race, age, and religion. It is a feeling someone develops toward a person or group, which is not based on personal experience. Another name for it is "bigotry."

Jews have championed the cause against injustice, not just as our fight, but on behalf of others. We fought for gay rights and civil rights. Why do we fight for causes like these? We have been persecuted for thousands of years. We, as a people, want to right the wrong of social injustice. The Jewish people know about discrimination and bigotry.

Recently, I was in a discussion with a Conservative Rabbi. I want to preface this by saying that this has nothing to do with the discussions we are having with BTEE. This Rabbi made several statements that were not based in fact, but rather, a biased assumption. One such assumption is that Reformed Shuls do not read much Hebrew (or any) in their services. How does he know? Where is he getting this information? Has he come to our services? I have not seen him attending services in our temple.

This particular Rabbi believes that Halakkah defines a Jew. Halakkah is the collection of a body of religious laws for Jews, including the 613 Mitzvoth, the Talmud and our customs or traditions. To this end, he believes in matrilineal descent. If your mother is Jewish, then you are Jewish. I asked him if someone was a practicing Jew, and his father was Jewish, but his mother was not, (patrilineal descent), would he consider this person Jewish. He said this person would have to go through a conversion process and have a mikvah. He also believes that there is a right way to pray and a wrong way.

We must ask ourselves, what is a Jew? It is not a nationality. We come from all over the world. It is a religion, heritage, and culture. We observe the Commandments. We have complete hearts.

We are a Jewish people. How, in this day and age, can one person define who is Jewish and who is not? We should welcome people, regardless of their walk of life. If we have an elitist attitude, the Jewish religion will be no more.

CHAI SOCIETY/SISTERHOOD

CHAI SOCIETY/SISTERHOOD WISHES TO THANK EVERYONE WHO ATTENDED AND PARTICIPATED IN OUR HANUKKAH BAZZAR. Many lovely items from our Gift Shoppe were bought. We especially want to thank Jerry Engelberg whose help has been invaluable to the Sisterhood over the years and who provided delicious hotdogs for the Bazaar.

Can you imagine our temple without the Gift Shoppe? There was a time when there was none. A lovely lady named Helen Pappert, who worked in the medical field and raised a family, decided our temple needed a gift shop. Somehow, she obtained a cabinet, ordered Judaica items through a catalog, opened the cabinet doors after Services, and voila we had a Gift Shoppe.

We need a special someone or special someones who would love to continue the work Helen began. If you are that special person, please call Shirley Abramson at: (818) 985-2243.

Everyone enjoyed the combined service with Temple Emanu El held in our temple.

Our business meeting on November 2nd was brief. It was led by President Shirley Abramson who also provided us with a scrumptious pumpkin cake. Thank you Shirley!

The meeting was followed by a discussion led by Andrea McKinnon, Steve Abrams and Ira Goldstein. We had all heard rumors, but now we were introduced to the reality that Temple Beth Emet and Temple Emanu El are holding conversations regarding a possible merger. Interesting questions were asked of us. Lots to think about.

Since we all have feelings about our Temple, everyone should participate in at least one of these discussion groups. Not only is the future of two Burbank Temples being considered, the future of Judaism and Jewish life in Burbank is at stake.

Next meeting is January 6th 2013 at 10am. Come help us as we make plans to help our Temple. See you there.

Sisterhood wishes everyone a Wonderful 2013

Let us help you with your Simcha Celebrations. Whether it's a birthday, anniversary, bar/bat mitzvah, birth of a child or just because, consider having a Temple volunteer coordinate an Oneg Shabbat for you.

We'll do all the shopping and arranging so you can enjoy the evening. The charge for this has been reduced to $50.00.

PLAN AHEAD. IT'S A GIFT OF LOVE.
